

EPT01

Door Power Transfer Devices

Hardware Accessories

| SPECIFICATIONS          |                                                |
|-------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| Material                | Stainless steel 316                            |
| Weight                  | 1.25                                           |
| Function                | Power and data transfer between door and frame |
| Width                   | 0.88?                                          |
| Depth                   | 0.67?                                          |
| Hardware Finish         | Satin Stainless Steel 630/US32D                |
| Additional Info         | Rounded mounting tabs                          |
| Mounting Style          | Concealed                                      |
| Handing                 | Non-handed                                     |
| Mounting Location       | Door frame / door edge                         |
| Burglar Rated           | No                                             |
| Rated Opening Compliant | No                                             |
| BAA Compliant           | Yes                                            |
| Country of Origin       | CHINA                                          |

FEATURES

- EPT Power Transfer Unit
- Concealed, tamper-resistant design for flexible power and data transmission
- ? Mounts on the edge of the door and frame with concealed wiring
- ? Flexible steel conduit protects cable bundles up to Ø5/16? (8mm)
- ? Compatible with most hinge types: butt hinges, continuous hinges, and partial pivot hinges
- ? Rounded mounting tabs for improved installation adaptability
- ? EPT Standard: Suitable for standard hinges and pivot hinges with <3/4? (19mm) offset

CONFIRM ON ORDER

Not stated in our published data, so confirm on the order: finish codes, overall dimensions, order code per finish.